

After the missions

★ = points < ?

★★ = ? < points < ??

★★★ = points > ??

Reaching the Headquarters

If player had ★

Print:

As the ship docks, a sinking feeling gnaws at you. You sense the subdued atmosphere even before stepping onto the ground. The anticipation of a lukewarm reception weighs heavily, with a tinge of apprehension about facing potential disappointment from your peers.

You step into the headquarters and the atmosphere feels tepid. Other rangers and employees give hesitant nods and weary glances, their expressions reflecting disappointment. A few grumbles and murmurs linger in the air as you pass by, indicating a sense of discontentment. The reception is lukewarm at best, lacking the usual camaraderie and enthusiasm. Your assistant approaches with a reserved demeanour:

Diana: "Welcome back. The council is expecting your presence in the meeting room."

Dialogue Options:

Ask about mission feedback:

Express readiness for the meeting:

Inquire about the atmosphere

Leave conversation

1. Ask about mission feedback:

Player: "Any initial reports or feedback from the missions?"

Diana: "The reports indicate some setbacks. It seems there were concerns raised by our contacts regarding your team's actions during the missions."

Player: "Understood. I'll prepare a comprehensive report for the council."

2. Express readiness for the meeting:

Player: "I'm prepared to brief the council. Are they looking to meet immediately?"

Diana: "Yes, they've been expecting your return. They're ready whenever you're prepared to present your findings."

Player: "Okay, I'll head there right away to give them an update."

3. Inquire about the atmosphere:

Player: "How's the morale around here?"

Diana: "Morale's a bit subdued, given the recent challenges. The council is interested in understanding the field dynamics and challenges faced."

Player: "I'll make sure to address those concerns in the meeting."

4. Leave Conversation:

Player: "I'll head to the council now."

Diana: Nods politely. "Of course. The council awaits you"

If player chooses Leave Conversation without choosing other options:

Diana: Watches the player depart with a visibly concerned expression, then hurriedly adds. "They're awaiting your presence in the council room. It's crucial that you join them promptly."

If player had ★ ★

Print:

As the ship glides into the docks, you expect the usual acknowledgment, but uncertainty lingers about whether your performance will meet the anticipated standards. A mix of confidence and subtle nervousness tingles at the edge of your thoughts.

Upon your return to headquarters, the atmosphere carries an air of anticipation. Fellow rangers and employees nod in acknowledgment, a mix of reserved smiles and neutral expressions greeting your arrival. There's a sense of usual routine in the air, suggesting an expected outcome from your missions. As you make your way through the corridors, your assistant approaches you smiling, maintaining a professional bearing as she mentions the council's readiness to convene.

Diana: "Good to have you back. The Council is awaiting you in the meeting room."

Dialogue Options: Same as before

1. Ask about mission feedback:

Player: "Any initial reports or feedback from the missions?"

Diana: "Initial feedback suggests a positive reception from the missions. You delivered as expected."

Player: "Understood. Good to hear."

2. Express readiness for the meeting:

Player: "I'm prepared to brief the council. Are they looking to meet immediately?"

Diana: "Absolutely, they've been awaiting your report. They're ready whenever you're set to present."

Player: "Good, I'll head over to update them promptly."

3. Inquire about the atmosphere:

Player: "How's the morale around here?"

Diana: ""Morale remains steady, as usual. I've observed multiple discussions circulating about your missions, consistently highlighting your commendable performance, as expected."

Player: "Thank you. It's encouraging to know that my efforts are being noticed and appreciated by everyone."

4. Leave Conversation:

Player: "Got it. I'll make my way to the council meeting."

Diana: Nods politely. Offers a small smile. "Certainly. They're eager to hear from you."

If player chooses Leave Conversation without choosing other options:

Diana: Notices the player's departure, a faint concern evident in her expression, sounding slightly disappointed. "When you're prepared, please head to the council. Your insights matter to them... and to me."

If player had ★ ★ ★

Print:

The ship's arrival fills you with an electric buzz of anticipation. You sense an impending celebration, perhaps even a hero's welcome. Confidence swells within you, bolstered by the expectation of recognition and admiration from your colleagues. There's a bubbling excitement for the reception awaiting your extraordinary accomplishments.

You stride into the headquarters and an electric energy crackles through the air. Cheers erupt, accompanied by enthusiastic clapping and hearty pats on the back from fellow rangers and staff. The room is filled with an aura of celebration and triumph. Your exceptional performance hasn't gone unnoticed, earning you a hero's welcome. Your assistant rushes to greet you, barely concealing her excitement.

Diana: "Fantastic job out there! The council is eager to hear from you. They asked you to come to the meeting room"

Dialogue Options: Same as before

1. Ask about mission feedback:

Player: "Any initial reports or feedback from the missions?"

Diana: "Feedback's overwhelmingly positive! Your successes have been well-noted."

Player: "Glad to hear that."

2. Express readiness for the meeting:

Player: "I'm prepared to brief the council. Are they looking to meet immediately?"

Diana: "Absolutely! They're eager to hear about the outstanding achievements."

Player: "I'll be sure to provide as much detail as I can."

3. Inquire about the atmosphere:

Player: "How's the morale around here?"

Diana: "Morale's sky-high after your exceptional missions! The council's keen on replicating your success strategies."

Player: "Amazing! I'm thrilled to have such a positive impact on the team. I'll guarantee to highlight those strategies in the meeting."

4. Leave Conversation:

Player: "Thank you. I'll head to the council room promptly."

Diana: Smiles warmly. "Absolutely. They're anticipating your arrival eagerly."

If player chooses Leave Conversation without choosing other options:

Diana: Briefly taken aback, then adopts a more urgent tone, conveying a hint of disappointment. "Your presence is expected in the council room. They're counting on your exceptional input... I was looking forward to hearing your thoughts too."

-----//-----

Options:

1. Take a look through the window of the reception hall

If player had ★

You gaze out through the window, but the view fails to captivate you as it usually does. The vastness of the Atlantic seems bleak and uninviting today. The wildlife remains scarce, uninterested in the offerings provided by the automatic feeder, mirroring the tepid atmosphere within the headquarters. The usual awe-inspiring scenes are absent, matching the disappointment you feel.

If player had ★ ★

Looking through the window, you observe the familiar expanse of the Atlantic, appreciating the serene beauty of the ocean. Some wildlife tentatively approaches the dispensed food provided by the automatic feeder, drawing mild interest but lacking the usual spectacle. The display is routine, echoing the expected outcomes, neither particularly awe-inspiring nor disappointing.

If player had ★ ★ ★

Through the window, the majesty of the Atlantic unfolds before you. The wildlife teems around the dispensed food provided by the automatic feeder, a vibrant tapestry of nature in motion. Whales breach, dolphins playfully leap, and various birds create a mesmerizing display. The spectacle outside mirrors the sense of triumph and grandeur you feel within the headquarters, leaving you in awe of the extraordinary sight.

2. Go to the meeting room

If player had ★

You make your way to the meeting room, but the journey feels lackluster. The corridors seem unusually desolate, reflecting the subdued atmosphere. Few colleagues pass by, offering hesitant nods, mirroring the tepid reception you've experienced. The anticipation for the meeting is tempered by a sense of disappointment in your recent performance.

If player had ★ ★

Heading to the meeting room, you traverse the corridors that exude a sense of routine. Colleagues acknowledge your presence with reserved smiles, indicating a familiarity that lacks enthusiasm. There's a steady pace to your walk, mirroring the expected outcomes, neither overly exhilarating nor disappointing.

If player had ★ ★ ★

As you stride toward the meeting room, the corridors come alive with bustling activity. Colleagues offer enthusiastic nods and cheerful greetings, buoyed by the celebratory atmosphere. Your exceptional performance reflects in the animated interactions, setting a triumphant tone for the meeting ahead. The anticipation builds, resonating with the exhilaration of your recent achievements.

-----//-----

Inside the meeting room

If player had ★

Entering the meeting room, you feel a palpable sense of disappointment in the air. The 13 council members' expressions reflect a blend of concern and reservation. Their greetings are polite but lack warmth, mirroring the tepid reception you've encountered. As you take your seat, the atmosphere feels strained, indicating a dissatisfaction with recent outcomes.

Council Member 1: "The suggestion to send our headmaster ranger to the UN Assembly... do we need to reassess that decision?"

Council Member 2: "Agreed. The recent setbacks are concerning. Can we risk having our representation compromised?"

Council Member 3: "But let's not disregard their immense dedication and invaluable experience. Despite recent challenges, their expertise remains unmatched."

Council Member 4: "Their years of service shouldn't be dismissed due to a few missteps. We need someone who comprehends the complexities of our mission."

Council Member 5: "Precisely. Their presence holds significant weight, and we must consider the continuity of our efforts."

Council Member 6: "I disagree. Recent shortcomings could damage our reputation. Shouldn't we consider an alternative?"

Council Member 7: "Yes, it's a risk. We must ensure our representation is at its best."

Council Member 8: "I side with Council Member 3. Their dedication to our cause outweighs these recent events."

Council Member 9: "I concur. Their expertise is crucial, especially given the urgency of the global stage."

Council Member 1: "Despite differing opinions, it seems the majority leans towards reaffirming our choice. Their experience and understanding of our mission are unparalleled."

Council Member 10: "I agree. With proper support and guidance, they can effectively advocate for us."

Council Member 11: "It's a tough decision, but their long-standing commitment shouldn't be disregarded."

Council Member 12: "I too support the decision. They're the face of our fight against poaching."

In a room filled with varying opinions, the council members engage in a robust discussion regarding the headmaster ranger's representation at the United Nations General Assembly. Disagreements surface, with concerns raised about recent setbacks potentially jeopardizing their representation.

While some members advocate for reconsideration, emphasizing the need for flawless representation, the majority aligns with acknowledging the ranger's unparalleled dedication and expertise. They highlight the importance of experience and continuity in advocating for the organization's cause on the global stage.

Ultimately, the majority of the council leans towards reaffirming their decision, emphasizing the ranger's invaluable contribution and expertise despite recent challenges. The decision reflects a balance between acknowledging recent setbacks and recognizing the ranger's significant role in the fight against poaching.

Player choice:

1. Show gratitude:

Player: "I'm honored by the council's trust. I assure you, I'll dedicate myself to represent our cause diligently and uphold the integrity of our mission."

2. Express determination:

Player: "I hear the concerns, but I'm determined to showcase our efforts on this global stage. Together, we'll make a compelling case for our cause."

Council Member 1: "Your dedication and commitment are commendable. We appreciate your assurance. We trust that you'll effectively represent our cause with the same passion and determination you've always shown. Your efforts are crucial to our mission's success."

3. Acknowledge concerns:

Player: "I understand the reservations. I'm committed to addressing recent setbacks and ensuring that our message resonates effectively at the assembly."

4. Manifest doubt:

Player: "I appreciate the confidence, but recent events have made me question if I'm the best choice for this critical task. I'm worried my recent performance might hinder our cause."

Council Member 1: "We understand your apprehension, but don't doubt your capability. Your experience and dedication speak volumes. We acknowledge recent setbacks, but we believe in your ability to rise above them. You've been instrumental in our cause, and we stand behind your capability to represent us effectively."

If player had ★ ★

Stepping into the meeting room, there's a familiar air about the place. The 13 council members acknowledge your arrival with composed nods, maintaining a professional demeanour. The greetings are polite but lack any notable excitement, reflecting a subdued response to your performance. Taking your seat, the atmosphere remains steady, portraying a sense of predictability without much fervor.

Council Member 1: "Considering our headmaster ranger for the UN Assembly... any need for reevaluation?"

Council Member 2: "Valid point. Recent hurdles might affect our representation."

Council Member 3: "But their dedication and experience shouldn't be overlooked due to recent challenges."

Council Member 4: "Their extensive service is invaluable. We need someone who truly grasps our mission's complexities."

Council Member 5: "Their presence carries substantial weight for our ongoing efforts."

Council Member 6: "Differing perspective here. Recent issues could harm our reputation. Should we explore other options?"

Council Member 7: "True, it's a risk. Our representation has to be flawless."

Council Member 8: "Agreeing with Council Member 3. Dedication outweighs recent events."

Council Member 9: "Their expertise is vital, especially considering the global urgency."

Council Member 1: "Despite differing opinions, it seems the majority is inclined to support our decision. Their understanding and experience are commendable."

Council Member 10: "I concur. With adequate backing, they can advocate effectively."

Council Member 11: "It's a challenging situation, but their commitment speaks volumes."

Council Member 12: "I too back the decision. They epitomize our anti-poaching mission."

In the midst of diverging views, the council deliberates on the headmaster ranger's potential representation at the United Nations General Assembly. Concerns arise about recent challenges that might affect their representation.

While some push for reassessment for flawless representation, the majority stresses the ranger's dedication and experience. They emphasize the significance of experience and consistency in advocating for the organization's cause globally.

Ultimately, despite acknowledging recent challenges, the majority leans towards reaffirming their decision. This choice reflects trust in the ranger's substantial contribution and expertise, balancing recent setbacks against their significant role in the fight against poaching.

Player choice:

1. Show gratitude:

Player: "I'm honored by the council's trust. I assure you, I'll dedicate myself to represent our cause diligently and uphold the integrity of our mission."

2. Express determination:

Player: "I hear the concerns, but I'm determined to showcase our efforts on this global stage. Together, we'll make a compelling case for our cause."

Council Member 1: "Your dedication and commitment are commendable. We appreciate your assurance. We trust that you'll effectively represent our cause with the same passion and determination you've always shown. Your efforts are crucial to our mission's success."

3. Concern about perfection:

Player: "I acknowledge the emphasis on flawless representation. My concern is whether my recent contributions suffice for this level of responsibility. I'm worried that despite my efforts, it might not be enough to convey our cause effectively on a global platform."

Council Member 1: "We understand your worries. Your recent efforts have been commendable. We recognize the challenges but have faith in your ability to bridge any gaps. Your dedication is commendable, and we're confident in your capacity to represent us effectively."

If player had ★ ★ ★

Walking into the meeting room, a wave of admiration and anticipation greets you. The 13 council members offer enthusiastic greetings, their expressions reflecting admiration and respect for your recent accomplishments. Their demeanour exudes a sense of excitement and appreciation for your outstanding performance. Taking the central seat, the atmosphere buzzes with excitement, setting the stage for a meeting charged with positive energy.

Council Member 1: "Considering our headmaster ranger for the UN Assembly... their recent performance speaks volumes, don't you agree?"

Council Member 2: "Absolutely. Their track record is exceptional."

Council Member 3: "Their dedication and expertise are unparalleled. I don't see any reason for reconsideration."

Council Member 4: "Agreed. Their experience makes them the ideal choice."

Council Member 5: "Their presence would undoubtedly make a substantial impact."

Council Member 6: "No doubts here. Their recent accomplishments overshadow any concerns."

Council Member 7: "I fully support their representation. It's an opportunity we can't overlook."

Council Member 8: "Their contributions to our cause are undeniable."

Council Member 9: "Their expertise is vital, especially given the global urgency."

Council Member 1: "It's unanimous then. Their exceptional dedication and recent performance make them the clear choice."

Your exemplary performance has left no room for diverging views or concerns. The council unanimously agrees that your recent accomplishments and track record make you the ideal representative for the upcoming United Nations General Assembly. The decision is swift and unchallenged, resonating with absolute confidence in your capabilities and contributions.

1. Show humility:

Player: "I'm honored by the council's trust. However, I must admit, I'm concerned about the high expectations. I'll strive to meet them, but I hope my recent success won't overshadow our team's collective efforts."

Council Member 1: "Your humility is admirable, Ranger. Your concern for the team's efforts reflects your dedication. Remember, your success is our collective achievement. We trust you'll represent us humbly and honorably."

2. Express confidence:

Player: "I appreciate the confidence placed in me. I'm fully committed to representing our cause. My recent achievements only fuel my determination to advocate for our mission on a global platform."

Council Member 1: "Confidence suits you well, Ranger. Your determination inspires us. We believe your recent success amplifies our cause. Your commitment assures us that our mission will resonate globally."

-----//-----

You step back into the Ranger's Reception Hall, a hive of activity in preparation for the upcoming UN General Assembly. Diana is focused, typing away at her computer, while your team stands poised at the entrance, ready and awaiting instructions. The air hums with purpose and anticipation, each member playing a vital role in the final arrangements for the significant event ahead.

Options:

1. Go to your team and depart for the Assembly

You stride purposefully toward your team, exchanging nods of acknowledgment as you convey swift directives for the imminent departure. With a few crisp instructions and words of encouragement, you set the course for action, leaving the Reception Hall in determined strides, each step echoing readiness and commitment to the forthcoming assembly.

2. Approach Diana

Diana: "Everything in order for the assembly?"

Player: "Yes, we're ready. Just tying up loose ends."

Diana: "Good to hear. Your presence there will make a difference."

Player: "I hope so. We're aiming for impact."

Diana: "I have no doubt you'll represent us well."

Player: "Thank you. Your support means a lot."

Diana: "Safe travels and make us proud."

Player: "Will do. See you when we return."